Norwalk, CT, April 23, 2024 — INTERPHEX, the premier, global pharmaceutical and biotechnology trade event concluded last week (April 16-18, 2024) following three days of scientifically curated discussions, daily networking events, and new product and innovative discovery. INTERPHEX welcomed 9,000+ industry professionals – from scientists and researchers, to processing and manufacturing engineers – representing all facets of the pharmaceutical product development lifecycle. The Javits Center was buzzing with 500+ exhibitors showcasing best practices and innovation that fueled business growth and scalability for visitors.

A major highlight of INTERPHEX 2024 was the brand new INTERPHEX Conference located in the transformative Learning Lab – a destination on the Show Floor that featured 90+ curated education sessions in partnership with the American Association of Pharmaceutical Scientists (AAPS) and a 2024 Scientific Programming Advisory Committee, led by Conference Chair, Carl Allenspach, Ph.D., Chief of Staff of Manufacturing Science and Technology of Bristol Myers Squibb and Conference Vice Chair, William E. Weiser, Ph.D., Senior Director, Global Quality Systems of Thermo Fisher Scientific.

The Learning Lab – an enclosed, private education space reserved for Full Conference badge holders – consisted of an enriched meeting experience with innovative headset technology to tune into one of three stages, a Career Center with a professional headshot photobooth and a resume review area, and campfire sessions featuring FDA speakers highlighting best practices and insights for FDA approvals. Other amenities of the Learning Lab included catered lunches, additional meeting space, and an exclusive Networking Reception.

INTERPHEX Conference showcased everything from AI/Machine Learning, Continuous Processing and Manufacturing Developments, Compliance, Supply Chain, Cell and Gene Therapy, and so much more, explored through Keynotes, Panel Discussions, Quick Fires, and Late Breaking Sessions.

Additional Show Floor Content was also available for all badge holders on the popular INTERPHEX Live, Contract Stage, and Technical Theaters.

INTERPHEX TV, a news studio highlighting features of the event, debuted on the Show Floor conducting interviews with exhibitors, speakers, and visitors with topics ranging from product launches, new trends, education programming sneak peeks, the future of pharmaceuticals, and much more. Video interviews can be watched here >>

"INTERPHEX 2024 has once again proven to be a dynamic platform where the pharmaceutical and biotechnology industries converge to showcase cutting-edge innovations and exchange invaluable knowledge,” says Douglas Lugo, INTERPHEX Event Director. “This year’s event, with its diverse range of exhibitors and curated educational sessions, highlights the ongoing dedication to advancement within our field. The newly introduced INTERPHEX Conference, in particular, provided an immersive learning experience, fostering insightful discussions and paving the way for future advancements. As we reflect on the success of INTERPHEX 2024, it is evident that collaboration, innovation, and a commitment to excellence will continue to drive our industry forward.”

This year’s Show Floor was packed with exhibitor innovation and leading technology.
