Our 18th Year

The response to the past seventeen programs was overwhelmingly positive. We had participants from the pharmaceutical, clinical, generic, unit packaging, and household products industries in attendance. The information presented, in the small classroom setting, proved to be a valuable asset to everyone present. We are thrilled to again offer this beneficial class on the requirements, regulations, and intricacies of today’s child-resistant packaging. Please join us for this most worthwhile course. Each of the previous seminars sold out. Don’t miss out on this opportunity. Send in your registration as soon as possible.

Fee

Fee includes tuition and course notes. Continental breakfast, lunch and an afternoon break will be provided on Thursday, May 2nd. Fee does not include hotel accommodations, travel costs, and other meals.
